

Great Moments,

The year 2023's first issue brings interesting studies on various topics such as myocardial infarction patients with chest pain reported in an emergency department of a hospital, navigating the intersection of hypertension and erectile dysfunction, an overview of hypertensive crisis reporting to an intensive care setting, linking evidence-based management in hypertension to real-world experience for preventing stroke, and a clinical trial commentary on analyzing celery seed extract's role in hypertension management.

With the help and support of our readers, and contributors, we plan to make a leap into the next stage of development in terms of indexing development, ethics, and global ranking growth of the journal.

We can, and we will reach there, God willing!

Happy Researching!

.....

Corresponding author:

Narsingh Verma
Professor,
Department of Physiology,
King George's Medical University,
Lucknow, Uttar Pradesh, India
E-mail: narsinghverma@kgmcindia.edu

Corresponding author

Narsingh Verma, Professor, Department of Physiology, King George's Medical University, Lucknow, Uttar Pradesh, India,
E-mail: narsinghverma@kgmcindia.edu